

Form III: Rules & Regulations

Eligibility

- FuturArc Prize 2023 is open internationally to any individual or team, student or professional.
- Each team may comprise up to five members and may comprise different related disciplines. The composition of team members may include students and/or professionals. Teams are prohibited from swapping or removing any existing member of the team. Team members are only allowed to be on one team.
- One member of the team must also be designated as leader and identified as such on the registration form. This member will be the team's sole representative in all liaisons with the competition registrar. The team leader must have a background in architecture (i.e., is a student of, has graduated from or is practicing architecture).
- All members of the team are regarded as co-authors of the project they submitted together and will be acknowledged as such in all announcements, displays, exhibitions and publications associated with the competition.
- Individual entrants are regarded as the author of the project he/she submits and will be acknowledged as such in all announcements, displays, exhibitions and publications associated with the competition.
- Each individual entrant is their own representative in all liaisons with the competition registrar.

Non-Eligibility

- None of the competition organisers, their employees and/or family members, are allowed to enter the competition. The assessment committee and jury members, their respective professional practices, employees and/or family members, are also forbidden to enter the competition.
- Entrants must not submit any project that has been published or made public, in part or in full, before the closing date for online submission. Entrants are prohibited from disclosing their identities, names, countries of residence and/or practice before the competition results are made public by the competition organiser. Failure to comply with any of the above may lead to immediate disqualification.
- BCI employees and/or family members are not allowed to enter the competition. Jury members, their respective professional practices, employees and/or family members, are also forbidden to enter the competition.

Terms & Conditions

- All participants must accept the rules and regulations of the competition.
- Each registration will only allow for one proposal submission. Participants are not allowed to submit more than one proposal per registration.
- The participants should not contact the jury under any circumstances.
- Participants are not allowed to publish or disclose their project anywhere before the final winners are announced.
- Participants will be held accountable for the data they provide to the Organiser. It is the participants' responsibility to provide true data during registration.
- The Organiser has the right to verify the identity of the participants and may ask for further identification proof.
- Participants are solely responsible for materials submitted. Participants must be accountable for the proposals they submit and it should not infringe or violate any third-party intellectual rights, or any laws, contribute to or encourage infringing or otherwise unlawful conduct. By submitting the proposals, participants are representing that they are the owner of such materials and/or have all the necessary rights, licenses and authorisation to distribute it.
- The Organiser is not responsible for the use of protected images and/or materials by any of the participants.
- Participants are expected to submit original work. Copying someone else's work or using copyrighted images, photos, architectural/art pieces is strictly prohibited and will result in recalling all prizes and removal from the website, social media and publication.

- Participants must cite and describe supporting studies/articles, image sources or references used for their proposals as accurately and comprehensively as possible. In the event that they are found to be contrary to the submitted information, the Organiser has the right to disqualify or recall award.
- The Organiser does not approve, endorse or validate any proposals or awarded entries. The Organiser will not accept any liability for omissions or errors. The Organiser is not responsible for statements or opinions expressed by the participants nor do such statements necessarily represent the views of the Organiser unless stated otherwise. The Organiser disclaims any and all liability, which may be claimed arising out of reliance upon the information presented.
- The Organiser reserves the right to make any changes to the competition's dates, deadlines, requirements, etc. Any changes or updates will be announced on the official competition website and social media channels. It is the responsibility of all participants to check the abovementioned sources on a regular basis.

Intellectual Property

- All materials submitted to the competition will become part of the Organiser's files. The Organiser will have the full rights to publish and promote these materials, and make proper mention of the participants who authored the proposals.
- By submitting a proposal, participants are giving the Organiser the right to use the received materials in both printed and online platforms/publications.
- The Organiser will also have the right to modify any of the materials submitted in order to better adapt them to the different formats and layouts that the platforms/publications might have.
